

I have been Levente László Kupai's class teacher and chemistry teacher for 3 years. Although he has not been involved in building the class community from the beginning, he has integrated well and is an important member of it. He is liked by his classmates, and respectful to and cooperative with his teachers. Despite his time-consuming activities related to sports, he tries to do his best at school and to prepare thoroughly for the matriculation exam. He fulfills his examination obligations, which are absolutely necessary to continue his studies, at a good-to-excellent level. The student is surrounded by a supportive atmosphere in the family; his parents have always been cooperative in helping him to achieve good academic results. I can recommend László as he applies to continue his studies abroad.
